Note:

The application should run on Nexus 5X, Api27.

UserCustomAdapter is used to generate customized list of subscription and handle the edit/delete button click. It can communicate with MainActivity to support the changing of the list.

MainActivity is the default activity to build the android application. It controls the application's life cycle and handles buttons click.

subscription is a class containing the information about a subscription, including name, started date, monthly charge and comments. It has the methods to set and get values of different attributes.
